

The University of Nebraska State Museum and Division of Entomology apologizes and expresses regret for hosting the newsletter "Scarabs" on our website. The inclusion of inappropriate images was appalling and regrettable.

The content was quickly removed. We are embarrassed to realize such inappropriate material was housed on our website. We are following up to prevent anything like this from happening again. For the immediate future, the museum will review our procedures related to the distribution of scientific content and will ensure training of all museum personnel on these guidelines. In addition, the museum is working on ways to more often include diversity and inclusion training for all museum staff.

The museum seeks to inspire and encourage all individuals in their pursuit of scientific discovery and study. We are committed to creating an inclusive and diverse community of learning.
